AGSA Scholarship Program

AGSA is committed to fostering education and training in grain science and supports postgraduate students via scholarships for travel to, and attendance at, its annual Australasian Grain Science Conference.

AGSA Conference Travel Award

The travel award is offered to encourage postgraduate students to attend and participate in the annual Australian Grain Science Conference convened by AGSA. The travel award is separate from the Conference Attendance Award, but applying students are eligible for receipt of both awards.

The award provides funds to assist students to attend the annual conference. The number and value of the award will be determined by AGSA's governing Council.

To be eligible for the award, a student must be presenting a paper (oral or poster) at the annual conference.

The awardee will receive a certificate at the annual conference as acknowledgement of their receipt of the award.

Undergraduate students who are undertaking, or have completed, a research project in grain science are also encouraged to apply.

Application guidelines: Applications (not exceeding two pages) should briefly outline the applicant's academic background, career goals and current study and/or research program. A draft of the abstract of the paper to be presented at the upcoming conference must be attached to the application. Applications are to be endorsed by the student's supervisor.

Calls for applications will be made annually via the AGSA newsletter and website in time for each year's conference and applications must be received by the closing date published in the newsletter and on the website.

Responsibility for administration of the award is vested with AGSA's Scholarship Committee appointed by AGSA's Council. The number of awards each year will be determined by AGSA's Council.

Conference Attendance Award

The Conference Attendance Award is provided to encourage postgraduate students to participate in all events, scientific and social at the annual conference.

The award will fund the difference between the costs of a full conference registration (attendance at all conference technical sessions, trade displays and social functions, a copy of the conference proceedings and annual membership of AGSA) and that of the student registration fee.

The awardee will receive a certificate at the annual conference as acknowledgement of their receipt of the award.

Undergraduate students who are undertaking, or have completed, a research project in grain science are also encouraged to apply.

To be eligible for the award a student must be presenting a paper (oral or poster) at the annual conference.
